How to Join the Forum

To read messages in the forum please go to http://forum.linearcollider.org and click on the "ILC Detector Roadmap" forum. You will then see the messages which have been posted to the forum.

If you like to answer to an entry, or post a new message, you need to be registered at the forum. To do this please click on "Register" on the top right of the screen, and follow the instructions.

If you - once you are registered - login to the forum and go to the "ILC Detector Roadmap" forum. You can now answer to existing messages, or add a new topic, if you like to start a new discussion.

Please note that - as in all forum softwares - the discussion is organised in "topics". A new message is treated as a new topic. Answers to this original message are all kept together in a thread, so that it is easy for you to follow the discussions on this topic.

At the moment the forum is not moderated - everyone can post a message.
Please do not abuse this feature.